MISSING MEN HUNTED

Secrecy Veils Investigation of Aircraft Wreck Near Findlay.

(By Associated Press)

GEORGETOWN, Calif. — Six men who parachuted from a storm-tossed army bomber over the Sierra Nevada Sunday were found early today by rescue parties.

Two others of the crew of nine who leaped from the huge four-motored B-17 ship were rescued last night. Only the pilot, Second Lieut. L. M. Walker, was still missing.

Pvt. Robert V. Osely, of Columbus, Neb., was reported seriously injured.

At least three other fighting planes crashed in California Sunday, killing two fliers and injuring another.

The six rescued flyers were Second Lieut. J. R. Mode, Fort Worth, Tex., the co-pilot; Staff Sgt. Eugene M. Clemens, Chamberlain, S. D.; Corp. Walter B. Glanz; Pvt. Harold Salisbury, Bangor, Me.; Pvt. Fred E. Pekuri, Portland, Ore., and Mosely.

They were found at Bassi Ranch, an old cattle camp about 35 miles east of Georgetown, and about a mile from where they leaped froh the bomber.

Two others rescued last night were Corp. Sterling Ison of Hurricane, Utah, and Pvt. Aldon H. Stookey of Corning, Calif.

Ison said the crew of the plane was virtually catapulted into the air after the plane struck an air pocket.

"About noon we hit a terrific down draft," he said. "We were

Navy Department Says Word Lacking On Fate of Seamen

WASHINGTON—(INS)—For the third consecutive day, the navy department said that it had "no word" as to the fate of the 76 American seamen missing from the destroyer Reuben James which was torpedoed and sunk west of Iceland.

While no further reports have been received since Friday night when word was flashed that 44 of the destroyer's crew of 120 had been rescued, navy officials still held forth the possibility that more of the missing men may have been saved from the icy Atlantic and are being taken safely to port.

The convoy which the James was escorting is under a radio "blackout" and the navy said it was unlikely that further word would be sent until the ships have reached port.

Meanwhile Sen. Walsh (D.) Mass., chairman of the naval affairs committee, was asked by delegates at a two-day convention of the America First committee to start an investigation of the incident.

Coroner Says Civil Service Board Member Took Own Life.

FLINT, Mich.—(INS)—Coroner James Sutherland declared today that the death of Mark E. Older, 58-year-old member of the state tax commission, was suicide by shooting.

He was found unconscious in the basement of his home and died in a hospital two hours later. He had a bullet wound in the right side of his head, Sutherland said, and on the floor was a gun.

Firemen Made His New Leg

Calvin Bippus, Bucyrus, stands proudly on his new wooden leg, made for him yesterday by Mansfield firemen. In his left hand, he holds his old leg which collapsed Saturday night, throwing him to the pavement on North Main street. Firemen worked six hours yesterday, fashioning Bippus a new leg.

Firemen Carve Out Wooden Leg For Stranded Cripple

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY.

Mansfield's police and fire departments are called upon for all kinds of duties and odd jobs. They've reunited pigeon sweethearts; rescued cats from trees and roofs, found lost children and now they have manufactured a wooden leg.

Their latest venture came about Saturday night when Calvin Bippus, Bucyrus, fell on North Main street after his wooden leg had broken. Bippus, who lost his right arm and right leg in a train accident several years ago, was unable to rise until a police cruiser came to his assistance.

The police gave Bippus lodging for the night but were unable to do anything about the broken wooden leg. That is, until Detective Lee Remy came on duty yesterday morning.

After providing Bippus with a meal, Remy questioned him about the broken leg and found that Bippus could not repair it himself because of the loss of his right arm. So Remy took the matter up with Firemen Paul Young and Russell Whitcomb.

The firemen were willing to repair the leg but after one look at it they decided it would be easier to make a new one. Remy and the firemen visited Clyde Con-

THIRD CASE

Commissioner Reports Another Undulant Fever Victim.

The third of its kind in the past week, another case of undulant fever was reported today by Dr. William B. Wild, city - county health commissioner.

The health commissioner repeated his warning that Mansfielders should use milk and dairy products from only those dairies registered by the health department. Purchase of milk and milk products which are produced without inspection by the health department, according to Wild, is a "dangerous practice."

Wild said that the fever, which produces successive attacks of chills and burning fever, has not been transmitted from any of the city's dairies. A check is being made on non-registered dairies throughout the county to insure against any further transmission of the disease.

Predicts Call For New A.E.F. If Neutrality Ban's Lifted

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Sen. Chan Gurney, R., S. D., declaring that Germany has become an actual rather than potential enemy of the United States, urged the senate today to repeal the entire neutrality act.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., today predicted that if congress repeals neutrality act shipping restrictions "the war party will set up a hue and cry for an expeditionary force."

Wheeler will speak "for several hours" in the senate tomorrow or Wednesday against the pending bill to arm merchant ships and open belligerent ports and combat zones to them. He is the senate leader of opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

He expressed his views in an interview after Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., in a radio speech supporting the administration bill, asserted that its defeat "may bring us nearer to war."

George disputed opposition arguments that repeal of shipping restrictions would plunge the nation into war immediately. He did not refer specifically to the sinking last week of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James nor to the fact that only 44 of the crew of about 121 men and officers have been saved. But he did say:

TREK TO POLLS TOMORROW IN CITY, COUNTY

Mansfield, Townships, Villages Choose Officials, Light Voting Expected.

POLLS OPEN AT 6:30 A. M.

City's Electors To Ballot on Muny Offices, Special Levy For Fire Equipment.

Voters in Mansfield and Richland county will go to the polls tomorrow to elect municipal, board of education, and township officials and decide a number of special issues, but the candidates and issues will be different in virtually every voting district in the county.

The absence of a county-wide or state-wide issue is expected to keep the total vote down to one of the lowest figures in recent elections. In Mansfield, from 10,000 to 12,000 voters will mark their ballots, election board officials said, while the vote in rural and village districts, many of which have no contests, probably will be equally light.

The election board was completing preparations for the "off-year" election today, distributing ballots and supplies to precinct voting booth workers and setting up booths in the county's precincts.

Polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m., and if the total vote is light, as expected, the results of the election probably will be known in most districts by 10 p. m., it was said.

Lagging interest in the campaign throughout Ohio and the seriousness of the international situation may keep the total state vote under the 2,000,000 mark, the secretary of state's office said.

Mansfield electors will choose a mayor, nine councilmen, a city solicitor, council president, city treasurer, three school board members, and ballot on a proposed half-mill levy for more fire protection.

Voters in the city also will ballot on the two Madison township trustees to be elected. There are no contests, however, for the trustee and school board offices.

Secret Service Agents Patrol Residence of FDR's Son.

CORONADO, Calif.—(U.P.)—Ensign John Roosevelt, youngest son of the president, said today that the secret service agents whom it had been disclosed were guarding his home here, patrolled the residence to protect his 16-month-old son.

Presence of the agents was revealed when the staff was increased to two recently.

The first agent had been on duty for more than a year and the second was added so that they could give each other an occasional day off, Roosevelt said.

News-Journal All Set To Give Fast Election Results

Mansfielders, as usual, will get the latest results of tomorrow's municipal election at The News-Journal's election party Tuesday night on North Walnut street just north of Fourth street.

The big silver screen will show who's winning and how the half-mill fire levy is faring before the results are available at the board of elections office.

For the folks who can't drive downtown to attend the party, a special staff of tabulators and telephone operators will provide the latest returns by telephone. Just call 4251-6 and ask the operator for the results of any one or several contests.

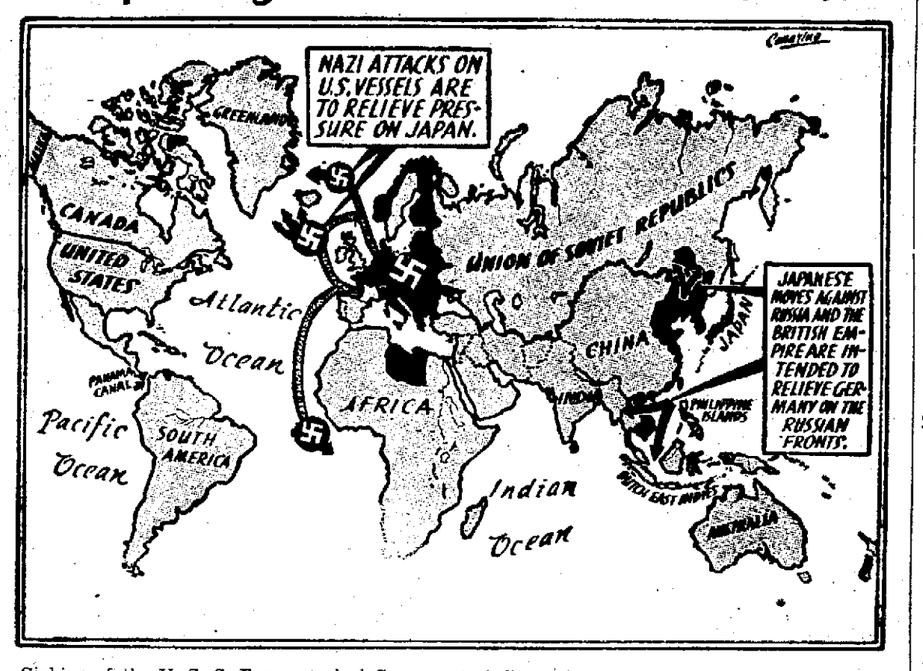
Torpedoing Part Of Axis Pressure Plot



Sinking of the U. S. S. Reuben James and attacks on other American craft couple with Hitler's declaration last Saturday that the United States had attacked Germany to indicate the pattern of Axis pressure-plotting to balance off increasing pressure from this country. As the above map shows, the Atlantic attacks are designed to relieve pressure on Japan and at the same time embolden her to keep the U. S. busy in the Pacific. Meanwhile Jap moves in the Orient are designed to keep Russia occupied on two fronts.

COAST GUARD SWELLS FLEET

Roosevelt Adds Unit To Navy In Surprise Move, Parallels World War Action.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The coast guard joined the navy today, making the world's largest fleet still larger.

In a surprise move, accompanied by no explanation, President Roosevelt issued an executive over last night taking the coast guard from the jurisdiction of the treasury department and placing it under the command of the secretary of navy.

It was the first time since the World war that the coast guard has been incorporated in the fleet, and Mr. Roosevelt acted under a 1915 statute which states that "in time of war or when the president shall so direct" the coast guard is to become a part of the navy.

The presidential order, released at Mr. Roosevelt's Hyde Park, N. Y., estate, transfers to the navy's command 290 ships exclusive of picket boats and other small auxiliaries, 50 airplanes, 1700 officers and 20,000 enlisted men.

This was the second executive action affecting the coast guard in the existing emergency. On May 7 Mr. Roosevelt placed 14 seagoing vessels and the coast guard's Hawaiian department under navy orders. The Hawaiian department had less than 1,000 men.

For some time sea-going coast guard vessels have been working with the navy in the defense patrol of the North Atlantic.

THREE BROTHERS IN U. S. FORCES

They Say Army Works, Navy Gets Pay, and Marines Get Credit.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — "The army does the work, the navy gets the pay, and the marines get the credit."

That was the good natured plaint today of three Cleveland brothers who give their mother, Mrs. Anna Walczak, a lot of pride in the fact that she is the only Cleveland woman to have three boys in three different branches of the American armed forces.

Believe FDR, King Talks Strengthen Neighbor Relations

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The outcome of conversations on "anything and everything" between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King of Canada remained a secret today. But there was every indication the parleys had strengthened already friendly relations between the North American neighbor-nations.

King himself was authority for the statement that his week-end at the rambling, old Roosevelt home had been "profitable."

Yet, just before his departure last night, he declined to go into details on what specific matters of international significance his talks with the chief executive had centered. Nor did he amplify the word "profitable."

The president, prime minister and Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, another week-end guest at the Roosevelt home, worshipped yesterday at the 152-year-old Dutch Reformed church in Hyde Park village.

They told him that they had lost a purse in the show last evening, and he admitted them to the office while he checked to see if it had been found.

FELLER MISSES

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Bob Feller's date with the U. S. army was put off by a narrow margin today, with the star pitcher just missing the Dec. 1 call but "very likely will be included in the next call, whenever that comes," according to officials at Feller's local draft board.

It was understood that Feller missed induction by approximately 10 numbers.

JAPS REFRAIN FROM HASTY ACT

Not Expected To Apply Terms of Axis Aid Pact After Hitler Claims 'Attack.'

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO — Signs multiplied today that Japan would refrain from any hasty action as a result of Germany's charge that she had been attacked by the United States.

The opinion prevailed nevertheless that Japan would be more likely to accept the German rather than the American version of incidents involving warships of those two powers in the Atlantic.

Informed quarters held the view that Germany would not ask Japan at this time to invoke the Axis pact under which these countries and Italy agreed to aid one another in case of attack by a power not involved in the European or Far Eastern conflicts.

The Japanese press meanwhile stressed the gravity of Japanese-American relations, which Asahi said were "the worst in history." Yomiuri and Kokumin followed a similar vein, warning that "there's a limit of Japanese patience."

BULLETIN

KUIBYSHEV —(U.P.)— Soviet air reconnaissance revealed today that the Germans are moving up powerful reinforcements for a heavy new attack on Moscow and dispatches from the south admitted the situation in the Crimea "is serious."

(By Associated Press)

Germany proclaimed triumphantly today the Russian army of the Crimea, split by the scourge of lightning assault by land and air, was trying to flee the peninsula through the Black sea ports of Sevastopol and Kerch in a double Dunkerque.

The Hitler command pictured the Russian retreat there as a near rout, declaring that German forces had captured 53,175 prisoners, 230 tanks, 218 cannon, several armored trains and vast quantities of other war material.

Far from the Crimean front, in the Donets basin to the north, the important industrial center of Kursk, on the railway running north from Kharkov through Orel and Tula to Moscow, had been captured. Kursh is 125 miles north of Kharkov.

Although the Russians readily admitted that the siege of Moscow was becoming most grave, Red army dispatches reported recapture of the northern section of Kalinin, 95 miles from the capital on its northern flank. They said that thousands of Germans were buried under the flaming debris of houses blasted by the defenders.

The Crimean fighting was a test for all arms of Russia's forces—land, sea and air. German occupation of the Crimea would include the Red fleet's great naval base at Sevastopol as well as a strategic air field and give the WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The defense mediation board met today with President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers (CIO) to consider his demand that 53,000 miners digging coal for the steel industry be granted a union shop contract.

The board's invitation to Lewis to attend will mark his first appearance before the board since he charged a week ago Saturday that the board heard the earlier negotiations in a "lackadaisical" atmosphere, extending to the point of "indifference."

Mansfield Youngster Gets First Film Role 7 Months After Signing Contract

Little tow-headed Diana Jeanne Schultz, the Mansfield tot who won a movie contract in Hollywood will get her first picture role in "Always In My Heart," now under production in the movie capital.

Diana Jeanne will be known as Patty Hale in the movies, but she's still Diana Jeanne to her classmates in the Woodland school where she attended classes. She remembers her school friends with frequent gifts from Hollywood.

It was seven months ago that The News-Journal carried a story of Diana's contract and her departure for Hollywood and today came the announcement that she is already at work on the film lot.

In her first venture into the movies, Patty will appear with such established stars as Walter Huston, Kay Francis, who spent two vacations at Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm, and Una O'Connor, one of the screen's outstanding character actresses.

The tiny Mansfielder will have ample opportunity to prove her talent in the picture. She will be the mischievous daughter of Una O'Connor, providing comedy and some heart-tugs and possibly starting her on a career as a suc-

GEN. JOHNSON: Threaten Tie-Up of Vital Plane Plants

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — Bundles for Britain are booming, Russian relief seems to be getting into a rush, and other private enterprises for aid to this and that abroad are faltering little. But the American community chest drive which is our most intelligent approach to organized private year-round relief seems to be lagging almost everywhere.

Johnson

Our unexplained generosity to these suffering friends of ours abroad is not in the least to be belittled. That could hardly be done justly. What we are doing as individuals is nothing compared to our public broadcasting by lease-lend. Together they set the world's greatest record.

But we have a few very important chores to do in taking care of our own at home. The means wherewith to do it are on the point of greatly diminishing and the demands on those means will increase greatly.

There is no doubt that a period of distress is ahead of us through a priorities disemployment of millions and through the ruin of thousands of small business men from similar causes and their inability to get goods with which to work.

On the other hand, unheard-of taxes and financial restrictions on most of those who in normal times could help the less fortunate are going to make it harder for them to spare their dimes and dollars.

Just the same the job must be done. The doing of it is one of the best proofs of the soundness and real value of Americanism.

For it is a kind of state of siege due to war. It has long been a military axiom that campaigns and battles where there is an element of glory and excitement are not the ultimate test of either an army or a people. A siege is—at a time when the fortunes of a whole group depends on the willingness of each to share as equally as possible with his neighbor—the last crust, the last half-pint of tepid water, and done so quietly that no one knows or even cares that it was heroic.

Of course, we are nowhere near any such extremity as that, and thank God, I think we never shall be. But the principle is the same and if present trends do not change some of us are going into the toughest season we have known since 1932.

These Community chest funds are designed to go further, to do more good in such a situation, than anything we have yet involved. If they can't be kept up, deprivation and even suffering will occur in places that most of us never even suspected we are helping. We can't afford to let them decline as they are declining now. In doing so much for so many other peoples, let's not forget our own.

These drives are going on all over the country right now and their period is drawing to a close. I don't like to use a column to solicit funds but this happens to be pretty nearly as much a national purpose as national defense and for that reason I think it is an exception. I still like the slogan of the dear, dead departed 'Blue Eagle': "We do our part." It would go well here.

SEEK TO OUST WILLKIE FROM PARTY RANKS

Isolationists In Congress Launch Attack Against Standard Bearer.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — A group of congressional Republicans is organizing today in an effort to read Wendell L. Willkie, last year's GOP presidential nominee, out of the party.

About half a dozen isolationist members of the house have taken the initiative in the anti-Willkie movement but they claim that ultimately they will have the support of 80 per cent of house Republicans.

Over the week-end in Indiana, one Indiana senator and four Republican Indiana congressmen fired the first formal anti-Willkie shot by pledging opposition to the administration's effort "to involve this country in an undeclared war" and by seeking to make the Republican party the standard bearer of peace.

This was a significant anti-Willkie move inasmuch as one of the signers of the joint pledge was Rep. Charles A. Halleck who nominated Willkie for the presidential nomination at Philadelphia in 1940. Others were Sen. Raymond E. Willis, senior GOP legislator from Indiana, and Reps. Forrest A. Harness, Noble J. Johnson and Gerald W. Landis. The five comprise a majority of Indiana's representation in congress.

Among promoters of the anti-Willkie movement, at least, feeling is bitter. It is comparable in intensity to the anger in which Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, D., Mo., and other one-time New Dealers have repudiated the leadership of President Roosevelt on foreign policy. But administration policies continue to hold substantial majority support in congress.

Both parties are split wide-open by the combined issues of war, peace, neutrality and the extent and method of aid to anti-Axis powers.

WELDERS TELL NLRB THEY'LL LEAVE WORK

Demand Bargaining Elections at Lockheed, Consolidated Aircraft Factories.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES — Welders threatening to strike two of the nation's busiest aircraft plants today delivered an ultimatum to the national labor relations board.

They said that unless the board calls a collective bargaining election at the Lockheed and Consolidated Aircraft company plants by midnight Tuesday they would walk from their jobs, vital to production of millions of dollars worth of military airplanes.

Half of the 600 members which the Independent United Aircraft Welders claim in the two plants voted the deadline last night. They said they had been trying for three years to secure the bargaining election.

Presently they are represented by the International Association of Machinists (AFL) but like welders in other AFL unions they have been seeking autonomy for years. The machinists union now holds working contracts with Lockheed here and Consolidated in San Diego under certification by the labor board.

If they strike, the welders said, they would call out welders in sub-contracting industries furnishing parts to the plane factories, thus further tying up production.

Lockheed-Vega employs approximately 45,000 men and builds twin-engine bombers and swift P-38 twin-engine pursuit planes. The plant is "tooling up" to produce Boeing-type four-engined "flying fortress" bombers.

Consolidated employs approximately 27,000 men and builds heavy multiple-engined land and sea bombers.

The aircraft welders threat was an offshoot of the jurisdictional dispute involving shipyards welders which has hampered construction of $865,000,000 worth of merchant and naval craft. Eighteen hundred welders are out in the Puget Sound area and 3,000 in this region. They are members of the Independent United Welders, Cutters and Helpers union which they joined after failing to secure an autonomous AFL union from the federation's metal trades union department.

RING DOORBELLS

Madison Parents Out To Boom Passage of School Levy.

Winding up a campaign for approval tomorrow of a three-mill levy to meet operating expenses in Madison township schools, Olan LaRue, superintendent of the township schools, said that a house to house campaign is being conducted in areas served by the Woodville, Lincoln Heights, East Mansfield and Beer elementary schools.

More than 30 parents and school friends, he said, are pushing doorbells of more than 500 houses in the four districts urging home owners to mark their ballots in favor of continuing the levy for five more years.

LaRue has said previously that if the levy is not continued township schools will suffer to the extent of losing approximately $50,000 to pay salaries of teachers and maintain buildings.

Principals of other schools in the township have urged support of the levy in a series of parent meetings in school buildings, LaRue said.

Union Rural Voters To Cast Ballots At School Building.

J. E. McCollough, superintendent of the Union rural school district, told Weller township voters today that provision had been made for them to ballot tomorrow in the east room on the first floor of the Union high school building.

Formerly, he said, district voters had used a farm shop building at the school which has been destroyed by fire.

At the same time McCullough urged approval of an additional one-mill levy in the district receipts of which will be used to meet current operating expenses of the schools.

Voters in the district are located in Weller, Franklin and parts of Bloominggrove townships, he explained.

FLOOD DANGER SEEN MOUNTING

Thousands Become Refugees, River Inundates Part of Midwest City.

(By International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—As thousands of lowland refugees from Arkansas and Oklahoma taxed state and federal relief agencies, the swollen Arkansas river brought new flood dangers to towns along its banks today, rising to the highest level in many years.

A high water mark for recent decades was set at Fort Smith, Ark., last night when the river rose to above 37 feet and flooded between 50 and 100 blocks of the city.

The crest then moved downstream, carrying its threat to Dardanelle and Morrilton, where flood workers kept anxious eyes on heavily burdened levees.

Crop damage in the Oklahoma-Arkansas flood areas was estimated as high as $10,000,000.

(Eight deaths are counted in Oklahoma over the week-end from widespread inundations resulting from weeks of exceptionally heavy rains. Floods also were forecast in Iowa, where the Des Momes and Raccoon rivers were beginning to spill over their banks in many places.)

125,000 EXPECTED TO WITNESS NATIONAL CORNHUSKING TILT

(By United Press)

TONICA, Ill.—The nation's best cornfield athletes wade through a muddy field on the Theodore Shafer farm today in an 80-minute contest for the national cornhusking championship.

A crowd of 125,000 was expected for the annual competition, whose entrants include the winners and runners-up in 11 state contests. The starter's gun will send the contestants into the race at 12:45 p. m., E. S. T.

The 60-acre field was expected to yield 90 bushels to the acre. Although heavy rains last week left it muddy, the condition of the corn indicated that a new national record may be set.

Floyd Wise of LaSalle county, Ill., battled mud, wind and rain last week to win his state contest on an adjoining field at the same farm by husking 50.96 bushels, which bettered all national, state and county contest records. Wise's showing made him the favorite in today's competition.

Irv Baumann of Illinois and Marion Link of Iowa, last year's winner and runner-up, respectively, were missing. Baumann failed to enter and Link took fifth in his state contest.

The contest is the 18th since 1922 when Vice President Henry Wallace, then an Iowa farm editor, promoted a state contest. Only six persons attended the 1922 meet but the competition developed until county contests now draw thousands of spectators. There were 1,200 entrants in the county contests this year.

The winner will receive a $100 prize.

GERMANS CLAIM ROUT OF REDS FROM CRIMEA

Boast Russian Army Split; Soviets Say Part of Kallinin Retaken.

Germans new jumping off places for attacks on the Red fleet if not actually a new approach to the oil-rich Caucasus.

With Russian dominance of the Black sea thus sorely threatened, an authoritative source in London said Russia had suggested to Britain that she might "with advantage" declare war on Hungary, Rumania and Finland.

The British said their government had not yet reached a decision on the suggestion and added that "naturally the United States is being kept informed on the subject."

Finland's role in the war against Russia was newly emphasized by British press reports from Stockholm which said that German and Finnish troops were only 14 miles from Murmansk, Russian Arctic seaport. The Murmansk-Leningrad railway has been the object of Finnish-German land and air attack almost since the Finns joined hands with the Germans in the invasion of June 22.

How British action could bear on Finnish and Rumanian war efforts against Russia is not clear. However, to date Britain in her economic warfare has taken steps short of the actual attack which a state of war would call for. Hungary's action against Russia has not approached the scale of Germany's Finnish and Rumanian allies, although Hungarian troops actually are in the field against the Russians.

A Reuters dispatch to London from Stockholm said a rumble of heavy gunfire in the Baltic had led to belief that the Red fleet in that sea was trying to shoot its way out to the west from Hango, peninsula fortress-base on the south coast of Finland which has been under siege since the first days of the conflict.

Critical hours in the great battles for Moscow and the Crimea were acknowledged in Russian reports today as the Germans apparently loosed mighty bursts of power in effort to force decisions on those fiercely-fought fronts.

Russia's peril in the Crimea, a back door to the Caucasus' oil and the middle east, was evident.

With extraordinary speed compared to the plodding pace of the Russian war in recent weeks, the Germans have driven deep into the Crimea since breaking through the Soviet's stout defenses on the neck-line Perekop isthmus last Tuesday.

The German high command announced yesterday that Simferopol, capital of the Crimea, had been captured and that Nazi forces were advancing swiftly toward Sevastopol, 40 miles beyond.

Reports in London said the Germans were only 20 miles north of the Crimean port.

What sudden turn had jeopardized the Red army's month-long stand on the approaches to Moscow, was not clear but information in Moscow suggested it might be the remorseless Nazi pressure on Tula, anchor of the Russian line 100 miles south of Moscow, or the mere weight of endless fresh reserves of German men and machines.

In London, military observers regarded neither situation as lost for Russia yet. The paramount question, apparently, was which would 'falter first—the Germans' power to attack without regard to sacrifices, which the Russians say are tremendous, or the Russians' power to resist despite their own losses of men, ground and resources.

Also a factor was the severe weather, probably the cause for a week-end lull on most of the long eastern front and particularly for the seeming halt in the German advance toward Rostov, in the south. Freezing weather would free Germany's armored forces from the bogs in which recent rains and snow have mired them.

If Tula is taken, the Germans could strike eastward to encircle Moscow. One report indicated they already had pushed between that city and the Red capital. Red Star, the Soviet army paper, reported continuous German blows on Tula without regard for huge losses.

If Sevastopol falls to the Germans, Russia's Black sea fleet would be deprived of its best remaining base. The Germans, with convenient air bases, then would have a stepping-stone eastward across the narrow Kerch strait to the Caucasus.

Informants in London said the Russians might be sacrificing ground in the Crimea deliberately to win time to reorganize their forces for a last-ditch defense of Sevastopol.

The Germans, however, may decide to by-pass the port, pounding it into uselessness by air attack. Already, one column is said to have veered eastward toward Kerch, and a DNB dispatch said a warship had been damaged and a big troop ship set afire in heavy air assaults.

At Singapore, General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander-in-chief in India newly-arrived at Britain's far eastern Gibraltar, conferred with Alfred Duff Cooper, far eastern coordinator for the British government, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, British commander-in-chief in the Far East.

Bad weather forced a lull in the British air offensive against Germany, in which at least 20 Axis ships were said to have been sunk or damaged and German bases in northern France heavily hit during the week-end.

The Germans, however, claimed one 4,000-ton vessel as sunk in British waters last night and said that others, totalling 28,000 tons, were presumed also as sunk.

Duff Cooper, continuing the extraordinary series of consultations of British empire and war leaders in the Pacific region, later flew from Singapore to Sydney.

Stretching his legs while the plane refueled at Batavia, Dutch East Indies, Duff Cooper said that the Far Eastern political situation had become "very uncertain."

In the Philippines the Nacionalista party was urging reelection of Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon Nov. 11 on the grounds that the islands might soon be involved in war and could offer an uninterrupted administration of the national defense act now being applied.

At London, Sir Earle Page, the Australian ambassador, told the press Australia appreciated "American influence in stabilizing the Pacific situation." He expressed the opinion that Honolulu is impregnable, an example he cited to illustrate his contention that the best way to keep war out of the Pacific was to prepare defense of "the right spots."

British Pilots Reach Archangel

STOCKHOLM—(U.P.)—The newspaper Tidningen reported from Helsinki today that an unspecified number of British pilots, mechanic and aircraft ground crews have arrived at Archangel in recent days.

The information was attributed to Russian prisoners captured by the Finns.

The prisoners, it was reported, said a number of British ships carrying war materials have docked at Archangel in recent days and that they carried British armed forces as well as supplies—largely aviation personnel.

These forces were said to have been sent south.

Germans Report British Ship Hit

BERLIN — (UP) — German bombers sank a 4,000-ton British vessel last night and damaged five other "especially heavily-loaded" merchantmen, totaling 28,000 tons, so severely that several of these can be "reckoned lost," official Nazi sources reported today.

The Luftwaffe was said to have carried out a successful raid on Great Yarmouth, on the English coast, last night.

The high command reported that a 6,000-ton merchantman was sunk in the Suez roadstead.

In North Africa, the high command said, German bombers broke up concentrations of British motor vehicles near Sollum.

we have suffered within recent days, may arouse, but no single incident alone is likely to drive our people into war."

George is scheduled to speak on the pending bill in the senate today, the seventh day of debate on neutrality revision.

Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky called the senate into session an hour earlier than usual in an effort to speed the bill to a vote on Wednesday. Administration forces claim a majority sufficiently large to pass the measure and return it to the house, which approved only the ship-arming section.

Wheeler said that if the bill passes, the president "will undoubtedly start convoying and sending our ships to Liverpool and whatever other ports in England are open."

"More of our ships will be sunk and our sailors drowned," he said. "The war party will set up a hue and cry for an expeditionary force, notwithstanding the fact that we do not have enough guns, tanks or even powder to carry on a war for any length of time. The warmakers should pause and ask themselves where we could get an AEF even if we had some place to land it."

Though amply supplied with food they suffered greatly at night from the sub-freezing temperatures.

"I felt myself lifted, and a second later I was crashing through the glass of the gunner's turret and flying blindly into space. I pulled the rip cord."

Stookey was whipped through a hole in the fuselage.

At San Anselmo, north of San Francisco, Lieuts. R. E. Speckman and Thomas Leroy Truax rode to death against Bald Hill in their fast P-40 pursuit ships last night. The planes struck only 20 feet apart, caught fire and were demolished.

Lieut. Walter D. Radovich, flying another P-40 in the same squadron of 13, parachuted to earth near Santa Venicia, six miles away, and broke a leg in landing.

Search was also being made for four other missing army fliers.

Lieuts. A. B. Dannell and R. D. Leimbacker were unreported on a trip in an army training plane from March Field in southern California to Moffett Field, near San Jose. Lieut. Robert Agnew, likewise flying a trainer, disappeared on a scheduled 30-minute hop from Stockton to Moffett Field.

Lieut. Richard N. Long of Connellsville, Pa., missing ten days, was still being sought in the mountains east and north of Fresno. His pursuit plane and four others—their pilots later located—disappeared from the same P-40 squadpeared from the same PJ-40 squadron, then numbering 19 and northbound, from which Speckman, Truax and Radovich were lost yesterday on the return trip from Washington state.

First known survivors of the nine aboard the lost bomber, based at Salt Lake City, were Corp. Sterling Ison of Hurricane, Utah, and Pvt. Aldon H. Stookey of Corning, Calif.

They were found on Tells Peak by a woodsman and brought into the Georgetown Ranger station, where they told how the huge ship, en route from Reno, Nev., to Sacramento, Calif., snapped in two while traveling 200 miles an hour. They were literally thrown into the air, they said, and the plane dug out of sight into the swirling snow.

Patty ran into some difficulties in her first day of production on the movie lot, according to a story from Hollywood. The script required her to get into mischief with an electric cream whipper, and she made the scene so realistic that she was smeared with the thick cream and had to have a bath before she could continue.

Patty, who is not quite seven, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Schultz. She has been a radio and stage performer since she was two and a half years old, receiving her first instruction from her mother, who formerly was a music Teacher in Toledo. 21 KILLED IN OHIO, RICHLAND AREA ESCAPES

Mansfielder Unhurt After Car Skids, Plunges Down Bank, Breaks Off Pole.

Despite roads made hazardous by occasional rains, Mansfield area motorists escaped a listing in Ohio's week-end traffic toll which took the lives of 21 persons in accidents throughout the state.

Joseph Enderley, Mansfield R. D. 4, escaped injury early yesterday when his automobile skidded off a county road west of the city, plunged down an embankment, sheared off a utility pole and crashed into a wire fence.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, who investigated the accident, said that Enderley's escape from injury was miraculous. The car tore down 150 feet of the wire fence in crashing through it.

In the city, only one major accident occurred. A skidding taxicab collided with another automobile at the intersection of Bowman and Fourth streets late Saturday and then caused three other cars to crash into each other.

Vaughn Watkins, 102 South Foster street, driver of the cab, told police his car skidded on the wet pavement and collied with another driven by Thomas Clark, 48 Douglas avenue. The cab bounced off Clark's car into a parked automobile owned by Robert Boyd, 78½ Park Avenue west. Boyd's car was knocked forward striking a fourth auto owned by William Whiteman, 195 West Fourth street. Whiteman's car completed the accident by hitting the rear of another automobile owned by Dan Snyder, 195 West Fourth street.

Mansfield firemen were called to extinguish a minor blaze in Watkin's cab, caused by a short-circuit in the engine. All autos in the accident were slightly damaged.

Harvey Swartz, 60, Shelby, received a slight neck injury yesterday when his auto collided with another driven by Samuel Clifford, Bellville, on State Route 61, about a mile and a half north of Shelby. State Highway Patrolmen said Swartz had been charged with reckless driving.

A collision of two automobiles five miles west of New Carlisle killed three persons and injured a fourth Sunday.

The triple fatality victims were Cleveland Rossiter, 55; his daughter, Marian, 12, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Nora Woods, 55, all of New Carlisle.

The wreck occurred at the intersection of Routes 202 and 71.

Joseph Lowenstein, 48, of Hamilton, vice president of the Lowenstein Furniture company, and Howard Hisel, 21, of Mount Healthy, were killed in an automobile-truck crash six miles south of Hamilton. Lowenstein was riding in the truck.

Other fatalities included:

Niles — Charles Collins, 63, struck by truck.

When they left the lumber yard; they had a fine piece of oak wood which Constance had cut to the proper size for the new leg.

Returning to the fire station, Young and Whitcomb went to work, carving at the wooden leg. They soon found that Bippus' old leg had been a little short. To correct this, they added a new section, "specially patented" which will allow Bippus to get "refills" when the leg becomes worn.

Fireman Lee Harley then took over the leg and applied a coat of oak stain and fastened a brass ring for decoration and a rubber "shoe" to prevent slipping. The firemen even padded the top of the leg where Bippus fastens it to his leg.

Finally after more than six hours of work, Remy and the firemen presented it to Bippus.

"I wouldn't have been pleased more with a hundred dollars," he said. "Not that the old leg wan't a good one. I've had it more than four years and have traveled more than 4,000 miles on it. This one should be good for at least 10,000 miles."

TREK TO POLLS TOMORROW IN CITY, COUNTY

Mansfield, Townships, Villages Choose Officials, Light Voting Expected.

Fred M. Bushnell, Democratic candidate for mayor, will hold the spotlight in the city election. They were putting the finishing touches on their campaigns today as party organizations made their final plea to voters to go to the polls tomorrow.

The campaign which closes tonight has been one of the quietest in the city's history, failing to produce a major issue or arouse much interest among registered voters.

Madison township voters outside Mansfield will decide whether they want to continue a three-mill levy for operation of the schools and elect three school board members from a field of six candidates.

The county's rural areas will elect three county school board members, choosing them from four candidates. Clarence G. Tugend, Worthington township, and Leland Clever, Franklin township, are seeking re-election. On the ballot with them will be R. B. Garber, Bellville, and Emery Culler, Lucas.

Villages in the county will elect complete slates of officials from mayor to the board of public control and board of education members.

Two school districts, Butler and Bellville, will vote on centralization proposals. Lucas will ballot on an $18,000 bond issue for water works improvements. Bellville will decide a proposed village tax levy for operation purposes, the Union Rural school district will vote on a school operating levy, and Shelby will vote on a levy for park purposes.

Only three voting places have been changed in Mansfield and South Boulevards since the last general election, board of elections officials said today.

Voters in Precinct D of the Fourth ward will vote at the John G. Fisher home, 375 McPherson street, instead of at the J. P. Arras residence on Springmill street. In the Third ward, the voting place in Precinct D has been changed from the Smoke Shop to the Reliable Furniture company store on West Fourth street.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1941.

Had you stopped to think that the next fire may be at YOUR home—or the place where YOU work? If that happened you'd want a well-equipped fire department to get there QUICKLY.

Free speech is a guaranteed right—even when there are no listeners.

Reporters are already being instructed that, despite the probability, no reference is to be made to "the heavy woman vote."

It is announced that no Nobel prizes will be awarded this year—the din of war being too loud to hear the voice of peace.

There's a Reason Why YOU Should Vote

BASING estimates on experience and observation, Richland county board of election officials are predicting that Mansfield's total vote tomorrow will not run much above 10,000—about one-half the total of registered voters in the city.

Just why an interested minority should be permitted to choose city officials who are to serve for the next two years is rather hard to understand—for it cannot be doubted that the 10,000 persons who are not expected to vote are just as much concerned about the welfare of Mansfield as the 10,000 who go to the polls to express their preference of candidates for mayor, president of council, treasurer, solicitor, councilmen at large, and ward councilmen.

If this were a national, or even a state election, a much larger vote would be anticipated, yet the effect of good—or bad—city government is actually of more personal importance to individual citizens than the distant operation of state and national affairs.

While the choice of ward councilmen, and councilmen at large, may not seem to be a serious matter, the fact is that the whole process of representative government starts in these small units, in which citizens select those who are to be their spokesmen in making laws, authorizing improvements and expenditures of public money, and, in a general way, looking after the interests of the people they represent.

Without capability, honesty, dependability and common sense evidenced in action by council, and without similar traits extending through all departments of city government, a municipality is handicapped in making the progress that would otherwise be possible, as well as in assuring wise expenditure of public money.

Ballots have been provided to permit voting by many more Mansfielders than are expected at the polls tomorrow—so there's no reason why YOU shouldn't vote—even if you have decided that you will let others elect your city officials. There is still time to change your mind. If YOU do not vote why should ANYBODY vote—and if nobody voted, then what about democracy and "government of the people, by the people, for the people?"

Rubber Production At Home

WAR is the testing time not only for men but for materials, and one of the most vital materials is rubber. So far it has been a tropical product, obtained mainly from trees in the Dutch East Indies and in Africa. There have been some nervous flurries about that lately, and the sources might be cut off at any time. The precarious nature of our supply has started a search for new materials.

It is well known now that rubber can be produced artificially, and the synthetic product, already made in considerable quantities, is better in some respects than the natural rubber. But it is still costly and the demand far outruns the supply.

Some folks are recollecting that quite satisfactory rubber can be obtained from common milkweed, and at least a few will recall that a number of Mansfielders lost money, around a quarter of a century ago, by buying stock in a local company organized around that ambitious idea.

The only trouble seemed to be that it took too many weeds to make too little rubber to develop a profit.

Welcome the 'Silent Soldiers'

THE FOUR HORSEMEN have ridden hard this year. They have brought War, Famine, Pestilence, and Death to a large part of the world. It will take every ounce of strength and knowledge possessed by mankind to halt their sweeping horror. Before many weeks pass, the great annual Christmas Seal campaign will be on in earnest. The funds from these little seals are used to fight one of the most powerful of the horsemen's allies—Tuberculosis.

Through the ages tuberculosis has been known as the great white plague. For centuries it was the number one killer. In times of distress it literally destroyed whole populations. The fact that this is not true today is due solely to the achievements resulting from the continuous sacrifices of medical scientists. C. L. Newcomb, Christmas Seal sale director for the National Tuberculosis association, recently said: "In the 34 years of Christmas Seal sales, the tuberculosis death rate has been cut by three-fourths, but the disease last year took over 1,000 more American lives than were killed or died from wounds in the American Expeditionary Force in the first World war."

Tuberculosis is still a major problem. With the world again facing conditions that will make a fertile field for a new outbreak of the disease, it behooves the individual to look with new significance this year on the cheery seals adorning his greeting cards. They are silent soldiers in a gigantic battle, a crucial battle between humanity—and the four horsemen.

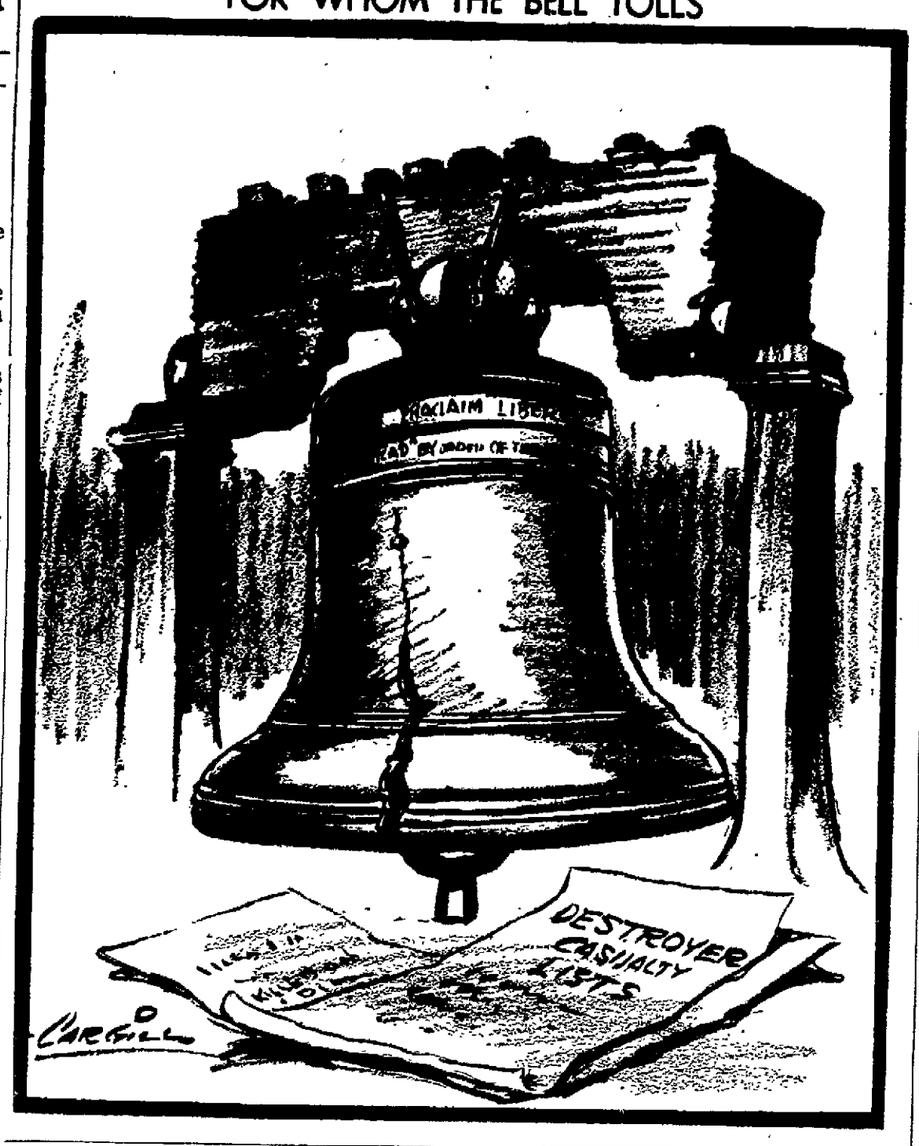
Those Worried Icelanders

OLD-TIMERS in Iceland foresaw trouble when the British and Americans moved in, and their fears are now realized. Premier Hermann Jonasson has resigned because of the way things are going.

Living costs, he says, have risen 70 per cent as a result of the military occupation. The island's commerce is disrupted. Farmers are leaving their lands to work on defense projects. Many Icelanders fear a collapse of their present hectic prosperity when the war is over.

But Iceland's present troubles are probably small, as compared with what they would have been had it been the Nazis who moved in instead of the Americans and British soldiers.

"FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS"



Many Post-War Problems Loom

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Withqut the slightest intention of minimizing the war effort, much serious work is being done inside the administration, and in contact with manufacturers outside it, with respect to the post-war problem.

Meetings are being held every few days to study this problem. Business is being warned by those inside its own ranks that private capital MUST provide jobs in plenty, after the shooting stops, or else the government will take over.

In brief, the "make work" campaign of the New Deal after President Roosevelt was inaugurated, in 1933, when there was so much talk about raking leaves, will not be a patch on government spending to make jobs after this war is over IF jobs are badly needed.

It is rather startling to contemplate how many jobs will be needed when that time comes. In other words we are all looking forward eagerly to peace but when it comes it will present the most baffling problems the American people have ever faced.

* * *

FOR one thing, and there is no use kidding ourselves about this. There will be the returned soldiers. For there is going to be at least one huge expeditionary force (it probably will be small at first, but so it was in the last war, when General Pershing took a division to France. The war ended with 2,000,000 American United States soldiers in France and 2,000,000 more under arms in the United States ready to go).

Every big official in the administration believes there is going to be an expeditionary force, perhaps two. The British at present want an expeditionary force in North Africa and Iran.

Without attempting to estimate how many men will be returned from the army to civilian life, whether they meantime have gone abroad or not, it is sufficient to figure that the number will be staggering. Last time it was 4,000,000. This time it may not exceed 1,000,000, but it will if the war lasts very much longer.

Then there will be the huge number of men who by the end of the war will be employed in plants making shells, guns and tanks. Production in such plants should stop the day peace is signed. In the case of airplane factories the percentage of cessation will not be 100, but it is apt to be considerably more than 90.

The point here is that manufacture of planes for war is making planes more for destruction than for use. The life of a plane, whether it be a bomber or a fighter, is short indeed on the battle front.

* * *

WHEN the shooting stops the destruction of planes will stop. Loss of planes will revert to those occasioned by accidents and age. In fact there will be so many transport planes left over, so to speak, that there will be less demand for new commercial planes than normal for some time to follow.

All of which gives some idea of why groups of government officials and representatives of the varius industries are trying to plan for taking up the slack of unemployment when peace finally comes.

Home Accidents Reach Peak in Autumn

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE most dangerous place in the American community is the home.

Such is the startling conclusion that a statistician recorded a few years ago. More citizens of the United States are slain accidentally in the supposed safety of their own homes than on the streets, the highways, in the waters or in industrial plants.

Indeed in some ways your automobile is safer than your home, as shown by the experiments at the Westinghouse high voltage laboratories when Dr. Gilbert D. McCann sat safely in a car that was bombarded with 3,000,000 volts of artificial lightning. The gas tank even presents no serious hazard, because its protected position is such that lightning can not reach it.

Peak Reached In Autumn.

Autumn is the time of year, for various reasons, when home accidents reach a peak. Fires begin to be lighted and match boxes are left around, and the children play with the matches.

House cleaning goes on and there are chores in the cellar, and small jobs of repair work, the eaves have to be cleaned, and all that means ladders, and ladders are contraptions of the devil. Some ladders are too short, others too flimsy, and the result is falls and fractures and concussions and dozens of lesser troubles. The National Safety Council has published a "Safe Practices Pamphlet on Ladders," just to show how imminent the hazards are.

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning.

The garage doors begin to be closed in the autumn, and carbon monoxide poisoning from the exhaust of the car is a consequent hazard. Carbon monoxide poisoning is now the most widespread poison connected with human activity. It is produced by the incomplete burning of materials containing carbon, such as gasoline and illuminating gas.

Carbon monoxide is treacherous because it has no smell, it doesn't even wake a person up at its insidious approach and the symptoms of paralysis may be on a person without any premonition. The treatment is to remove the victim to fresh air, supply artificial respiration immediately and indefinitely, and circulation by rubbing the arms and legs and wrapping in warm blankets and call a doctor.

Burning Leaves.

The fires of burning leaves are a pleasant aspect of the fall scene, but do not permit a child to remain alone and poke a fire. Thirty-five per cent of fatal burns occur in children. The hunting season and "unloaded guns" need only be mentioned.

About the cries of all victims of these autumn accidents is the universal wail—"I ought to have known better." Use that ounce of prevention to avoid accidents. Carelessness kills more people than ignorance.

FDR Says Legislation Is Needed To Prevent Shutdown of Mines

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There was an inside reason why Roosevelt spoke with particular vigor when, in his Navy day speech, he declared: "Our nation will and must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast machine."

That reason, he told the Arkansas congressional delegation next morning, was the fact that his son, Franklin, had telephoned him from Iceland just before he made his speech.

"Franklin told me that the boys on his ship were very much concerned about the coal strike called by John L. Lewis," the president informed the Arkansas congressmen.

"He said: 'Pop, there's not a man on my ship who isn't 100 per cent behind you in opening up the coal mines. They all want you to go after John L. Lewis because they're ready to give their lives for their country, if necessary, and they believe that the folks back home should do their part by keeping defense production going at top speed. And that goes for me, too, Pop'."

The president's voice showed that he had been moved by his son's phone call; and Representative E. C. ("Took") Gathings, also deeply moved, replied: "You tell young Franklin and those other fine young Americans with him that congress won't let them down. And we won't permit Lewis or anyone else to let them down, Mr. President."

"Thanks, Took," the president replied. "Lewis' position is indefensible." He can make all the high-flown speeches he wants to about Wall Street, but he can't deny that he, John L. Lewis, is obstructing the defense program by closing those mines.

"Unfortunately, there isn't much that I, as president, can do about it if Lewis refuses to cooperate. There was no difficulty in taking over the strike-closed Kearny shipyard and in sending the army to keep order in that west coast airplane plant.

"In both cases the majority of the employes wanted to work. But Lewis wields such control over union miners that the only way we can deal effectively with this coal strike, and prevent similar strikes in the future, is through legislation."

Capital Chaff.

EX-DEMOCRATIC National Secretary Chip Robert flew to Washington from Florida last week with a patch over one eye and a small printed card which he handed to friends. "I was helping an old crippled lady off the airplane at Jacksonville," the card read, "when her crutch slipped and hit me in the eye. If you don't believe this, ask Evie; she doesn't either." Evie is Mrs. Robert. . . . Justice department officials are bemoaning the coming retirement of Judge Charles Cavanah of Idaho, close friend of the late Senator Borah, and one of the great judicial figures of the Rockies. . . . William D. Upshaw, for years the rip-snorting prohibitionist congressman from Georgia and one-time dry candidate for president, is now packing them in at revival meetings in northern Indiana. . . . U. S. and Iran Railroad.

THERE'S a long secret story behind the final decision to send U. S. railroad experts to repair the railroad through Iran to the Caucasus—a story which reflects no credit upon the way war strategy is being handled.

For a long time it has been planned to send U. S. supplies from Basra, at the head of the Gulf of Persia, by rail through Iran (Persia) and then to the Russian army defending the vital oil fields of the Caucasus. So when Averell Harriman was in London, he cabled the American minister in Teheran, capital of Iran, asking for details regarding the rail line.

Harriman got the report with reasonable promptness. But it failed to be very specific about one all-important fact—namely, a gap in the railroad of 170 miles. Before this key line reaches the Caucasus, it stops. Then 170 miles further north it resumes, and winds its way on to the Caucasus.

Reason for the sickly and half-grown condition of the railroad is that the Shah of Iran had located his hunting estates in the opposite direction. So he built one full-fledged line through his estates and never finished the line west to Russia.

The finished line goes to the south shore of the Caspian sea. But there is no harbor at its terminus, and the sea there is so shallow that no large ships can come in. So this spur is impossible.

Only alternative is to send motor trucks to Iran to bridge 170 miles between rail lines. This is why such a tremendous number of trucks is being shipped to the Gulf of Persia. With Hitler's armies in South Russia encroaching on the Caucasus, supplies have to be rushed at any cost. Furthermore, the British have a large number of troops which can join the Russians—if there is any means of transporting them.

However, transportation by truck will be pitifully slow, and building 170 miles of rail will be even slower. Meanwhile eyebrows have been raised in the war department as to why the British didn't get busy regarding this rail line when they entered Iran last summer.

* * *

Own Medicine.

Secretary Frank Knox got a taste of his navy department's hammer-headed censorship the other day, and he didn't like it. In fact, the rough-riding colonel is still sputtering like a roman candle.

The incident occurred at Newport News, Va., where he inspected the new airplane carrier Hornet. Photographers swarmed over the doughty ship taking pictures from every angle, especially of the distinguished cabinet visitor who proudly surveyed her. One of the shots of Knox was against a background of the Hornet's superstructure.

The ship was built at Newport News and arrangements had been made to photograph also a group of nine veteran employes whose combined service totaled 360 years. Elated at this honor, the workers appeared spick and span, and the photographers got ready to take a batch of very newsworthy pictures.

But at the last moment a navy department press officer, who had accompanied Knox to the ship, called a halt. Pictures could not be taken, he proclaimed, showing the Hornet's superstructure, even at a distance.

The fact that shots of Knox had been taken with the superstructure in the background was haughtily brushed aside. The proposed picture of the nine workers who helped build the ship was out.

Knox knew nothing about the incident until hours later, when it was too late to correct the bungling. But he did the next best thing. He curled the officious officer's hair with the saltiest cussing he ever got.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Congress has the treasury department across a barrel and all because of a little $150,000,000 item which isn't a drop in a ten-gallon keg when you come to considering the overall billions needed to run the government and finance national defense.

When the latest tax bill came out of congress, one thing in it NOT recommended by the treasury was the $5 motor vehicle use tax. Even now that it has become law, you can't get any on-the-record discussion of it at the treasury department.

Certain regulations concerning the tax were laid down in the law: the use of windshield stickers as certificates of payment; the jail sentence and fine provided for tax dodgers; and principally the fact that the tax should become effective February 1, with a prorated payment until the beginning of the tax year July 1.

THIS little joker means that the treasury department's collectors of internal revenue will take the field February 1 to collect $2.09 from each of he 32,000,000 private and commercial automobile owners in the country—one of the neatest little problems in tax collection that the treasury ever has been faced with. If a person buys a new car or a second-hand one on which the use-tax has not been paid around the first of March, he will pay 42 cents less; and so on, until purchasers of untaxed cars on June 1 will pay just 42 cents. On July 1, the collectors will have to start all over again with the 32,000,000 and pick up $5 from each.

In this problem, there are several unknowns: No. 1 is how to find out who the automobile owners in the country are. About the only places such lists are available are in the state highway departments. In most states, it may be assumed that the state highway departments will be very cooperative and furnish the collector with the ownership lists. But suppose there are some states opposed to the tax or for some other reason have no inclination to cooperate. That could easily develop into an insurmountable hurdle—insurmountable in so far as any solution to it has been suggested yet.

Unknown No. 2 (and for my money it makes the first hurdle look like a puddle jump) is what enforcement or policing agency can the treasury department employ to check up on five or ten or 15 million motorists who might refuse to comply? What headway could the handful of Secret Service agents and Treasury department investigators make against millions of potential violators? Could city, county or state enforcement agencies (nearly always short on funds to do even the ordinary work assigned to them) be expected to help out?

* * *

UNKNOWN No. 3—and it's not so much an unknown as a question—is can the government afford to turn the already overburdened federal courts into something similar to traffic courts for the simple purpose of collecting a $5 tax? If you want the answer to that, ask your local United States district judge.

There have been no official announcements so far as to the methods of collecting the tax. Under consideration is the plan of obtaining the state ownership lists and billing each owner. Since the absolute minimum of letters required by the government under such a system would be two (the bill and the mailing out of the sticker) and since it probably would take twice that to get in all the willing tax payers (or more than 120,000,000 letters), the size of the clerical force to be employed upon this alone becomes apparent—and staggering.

Martha's Hands

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MARTHA lived in our old home neighborhood when I was young. She was a natural housekeeper — methodical and neat, skillful with her hands, an excellent cook—refined, not intellectual.

"I don't get time to read much," she used to say. "It did happen one time that I got interested in a book. I sat and read all day. Jim came in and found me crying over that book and no supper ready. He was tired and worn out from digging a ditch in the lower field — and I was so ashamed that I vowed that'd never happen again. It never did. Jim and the children are worth more than all the novels."

"But your life lacks culture," a neighbor told her once. "How can you keep working at housework day after day—no music, no books, no clubs—that wouldn't be living for me! You're a bright woman, Martha—you ought to let things go sometimes and get away from home. It'd do you good."

"Maybe so," she said, "but a person can't have everything. The man I married happens to be poor, and if 'twasn't for me he'd be a whole lot poorer. Patched clothes are respectable if they're clean—and I'm good at patching. I like to make things over, too—and my children go to church well dressed. They get their baths and they get hearty food three times a day. Somebody has to work at home, of course, or that couldn't be."

When someone was ill in the neighborhood, Martha would always help. Her strong command in the kitchen more than once straightened out snarled nerves and brought order out of chaos for a sick neighbor. She was a bulwark in times of death or childbirth. She helped lay out the dead and gave the first bath to most babies of the community.

Nobody knew that Martha was ailing until too late. She had an old-fashioned prudish fear of a doctor's examination. When they took her, at last, to a hospital, the operation failed. She died, and at her funeral a lifelong friend of hers and mine remarked: "I can't keep from looking at her hands—how quiet and strange, how workworn and old they look—although her face is still young! How many good things they have done for all of us! I've heard it said of the Mary and Martha in the Bible, that Martha's hands may often play Mary's part. It was true in her case."

I nodded, wordless. Perhaps we all ought to appreciate more the Marthas of this world—for they, with their hands, work out a creed of their own that must underlie all real culture.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, Nov. 4.

A very active and interesting day is the forecast made from the prevailing lunar and mutual aspects. Matters may move under excellent impetus for accomplishment in unusual or extraordinary lines of creative expression, where the urges and talents seem to seek unique forms. It may be a day for going it alone along such channels as but little support or encouragement should be looked for from friends, superiors or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year in which some rather unusual or exceptional talents of a lofty creative forms may blossom into rich as well as lucrative expresison. This may relate to poetry, music, art, drama or romantic or mystery fiction, in which the intuitions, imagination or a flair for the fantastic may seek practical manifestation. It is distinctly a time for "going it alone" and with confidence.

A child born on this day should be energetic and ambitious, especially in the expression of a rather unique or extraordinary talent in which the intuition, imagination or inspirational faculties seek practical form.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"No!" Lillian said explosively. "You're not going with me."

"Why not?" I countered.

"Because," she said, "it's too—"

"Dangerous." I finished coolly. "I'm glad you recognize that. And that's why I'm going with you."

"You have no right to go," she protested. "You have children of your own. You cannot risk anything which might hurt them irretrievably, even for the sake of anyone whom you love as dearly as you do Marion."

"And you—" I supplemented, getting close to Harry as I spoke and giving him a surreptitious nudge.

An Appeal to Harry.

He "played up" beautifully, and I knew that he realized, as I did, the necessity of humoring and quieting his wife before she should get too excited. I had put the suggestion of my going with her in all good faith and I might have anticipated her generous reaction, I told myself, but there was no other way out for me but a mute appeal to Harry, which he answered promptly, valiantly and capably.

"Aren't you both wasting a lot of words?" he asked. "After all, this rendezvous isn't scheduled until tomorrow night, is it?"

"That's right," I said. "Marion's letter written yesterday, said 'day after tomorrow night'."

Lillian Feels Strong.

"And this is the morning of the day before," he said, "a good thirty-six hours away, with no particular preparations to make. It seems to me that argument concerning it might be deferred, my Sweet, until you are feeling stronger."

"Stronger!" Lillian exclaimed derisively, raising herself to her full height and stretching her arms high above her head, as if she would snatch support from the reservoir of the air. "I have the strength of ten women, since Madge gave me the glorious news that Marion's letter means just the opposite of what she wrote. I have something to fight for now."

"I know," her big husband said tenderly, pulling down her hands and putting her back on the bed again. "But please remember you can serve Marion best by conserving your strength. As for the rendezvous, you recognize, don't you, that it isn't in your hands or mine, but in those of the Chief? And whether Madge goes with you, or stays away, is also a matter for the Chief's decision."

His voice was inexorable, and I saw Lillian's quick rebellion at the dictum crumble and fall to the ground.

"I guess you're right," she said, then she made a lightning counter-attack.

"Then, of course," she said, "your going where you had planned is also absolutely in the hands of the Chief?"

Did he hesitate at this reference to his plan to hunt for his step-daughter, whom he loved as if she were his own child, through the underworld he had once known so well, and in which lurked such deadly danger if his identity were ever discovered by his old associates?

If he did, the pause was almost imperceptible.

"Absolutely," he said. "I am at his command now, as always."

"Then," she said, with a sudden acquiescent smile at him, sadder than tears, "I'll be good."

"For Marion's Sake."

Her voice was like that of a tired, docile child, and I guessed that the lump in my throat was duplicated in her husband's.

I sprang into action, for I knew what Miss Whitlock, waiting outside, would want me to do for her patient.

"Then the first thing on the program," I said, "is breakfast for all of us."

Lillian's hands flew upward, grasping her throat, and in the disturbed face which she turned to me I saw something presaging a recurrence of the strong emotion which had so devastated her.

"Oh, I can't—" she began, and I went summarily out of the room, leaving her husband to deal with her. Just as I closed the door, I heard him say firmly:

"Yes, you can, Sweet, and you must, for Marion's sake."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LIMITING YOUR RISK

All thoroughly grounded players should have a definite measure to use when considering an overcall of an original bid by the opponents. Otherwise, if they find themselves caught between strong hands, they may be doubled and suffer disastrous defeat. The "rule of two and three" is employed by most of them. This means that no overcall should be made except when the hand seems certain to take a number of tricks which is within two of the number bid for when vulnerable and within three of that number when not vulnerable.

1. ♠ A Q 6 4 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ 8 5 2
2. ♠ Q J 10 6 4 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ 8 2
3. ♠ A Q 6 4 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ 8 5 2
4. ♠ K Q J 6 4 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ J 10 5 ♣ 8 2
5. ♠ 8 5 2 ♥ 9 5 ♦ A Q 6 4 3 ♣ A 10 5
6. ♠ 6 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ Q J 10 6 4 3 2 ♣ 8 2
7. ♠ 6 5 2 ♥ 9 5 ♦ A Q 6 4 3 ♣ A K 5
8. ♠ A 2 ♥ 9 5 ♦ Q J 10 6 4 3 2 ♣ 8 2

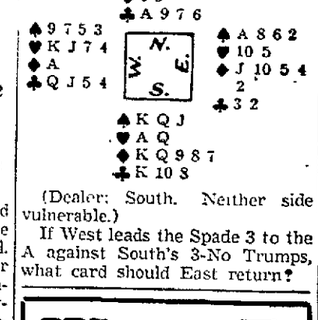
Playing tricks of all kinds, and not high card tricks, form the soundest measure for an overcall. Many a hand with enough honor strength for an original bid contains too small a number of playing tricks for an immediate overcall. When the overcall is at the range of one, the hand should possess four playing tricks when not vulnerable, five when vulnerable. When it must be at the range of two, such as 2-Diamonds over 1-Spade, it should contain one more playing trick than that to be safe and sound.

Applying these to the hands above, considered after the right-hand opponent bid 1-Heart, No. 1 calls for a pass, but would justify 1-Spade when not vulnerable if the diamond 10 were changed to the Q. No. 2 is a sound overcall of 1-Spade when not vulnerable, both those hands being passed while vulnerable.

If vulnerable, No. 3 would be a pass and No. 4 a sound overcall of 1-Spade. No. 5 is a pass over 1-Heart and No. 6 a sound overcall of 2-Diamonds when not vulnerable. No. 7 is a pass when vulnerable, but No. 8 a sound overcall.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West leads the Spade 3 to the A against South's 3-No Trumps, what card should East return?

Sport Podge by REX HESS

It's doubtful if any of Ohio's "big-league" high school football teams has ever been scouted more thoroughly on one afternoon than were the Bulldogs of Canton McKinley as they smothered Steubenville at Canton Saturday 58 to 6.

In the stands were the entire coaching staff of Mansfield high, AND most of the Mansfield team, AND the Massillon coaching staff, AND the Massillon team.

The Mansfields and the Massillons should know just about all there is to know about the McKinleys today, because the Bulldogs didn't hold much back in that touchdown parade over the Stubbers.

* * *

"And were your boys properly scared by what they saw?" I asked Tyger Tutor Paul Snyder.

"Those kids aren't scared of anything," Snyder retorted. 'I only wish I had all the confidence in them that they've got in themselves."

"Then will they be prepared to get in there and fight like they did in the Massillon game?" was the next query.

* * *

"I'm not worried about that," was Snyder's answer. "These Mansfield boys are fighters, and they'll fight any time it's necessary."

* * *

"And what about the great Jack Crider?" I asked him.

"He didn't show so much Saturday," (pre-game stories from Canton said Crider was banged up and probably wouldn't see much action,) "but this Harris at fullback did. He isn't the speedy, whirlaway back that Blunt of Massillon is, he depends on power and he's got it. When McKinley needs a few yards, Harris gets 'em."

* * *

On a field that was just about as muddy as the Tyger gridiron of Friday night, but without rain to hamper the ball handling, McKinley resorted to the overhead game to pile up its points against Steubenville.

Harris has a brother with whom he put on a passing act, while Crider and Dominick also heaved the leather, and Sims and Pickard caught it.

BULLETIN: Tickets in the stands will be sold out before the day is over says George Sherman, ducat disher-outer. Harry Mehock continues his search for more bleachers.

Green Bay Team Nips Chi Bears

Blast Myth of Bears' Invincibility, 16-14.

By TOM SILER

CHICAGO —(AP)— The myth of the Chicago Bears' invincibility has been blasted to bits, so now National football league teams can settle down to the business of deciding the professional championship.

Until Green Bay smacked the Bears over yesterday, 16 to 14, they were the talk of the country. Superlatives flooded the accounts of their games as coaches and writers acclaimed them as irresistable and unbeatable—the team of the decade.

* * *

Now that's all over and the Bears face a terrific fight for the championship they won a year ago. The pretenders to the throne included not only those pesky Packers, but also Washington and the New York Giants.

* * *

Washington trampled Pittsburgh, 23 to 3, yesterday and assumed the eastern division lead while the Giants bowed to the surging Chicago Cardinals, 10 to 7.

Detroit dropped Cleveland into the division cellar by whipping the Rams, 14 to 0, and Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 15 to 6.

The Giants, with two defeats, now face Detroit, Cleveland, Washington and Brooklyn. The Redskins must play Brooklyn, Bears, Green Bay and Philadelphia in addition to the Giants. The Bears, in addition to the Redskins, play Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia and the Cardinals while Green Bay plays only the Cards, Pittsburgh and Washington.

* * *

In case of a divisional tie, the two teams must play for the right to meet the other sectional champion in the annual title battle.

* * *

The standings:

EASTERN DIVISION

Club	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	O.P.
Washington	5	1	0	98	70
New York	5	2	0	142	53
Brooklyn	4	3	0	82	99
Philadelphia	2	5	0	61	121
Pittsburgh	0	7	0	68	173

WESTERN DIVISION

Club	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	O.P.
Green Bay	7	1	0	165	87
Chicago Bears	5	1	0	223	68
Detroit	2	4	1	59	131
Chicago Cards	2	4	1	84	125
Cleveland	2	6	0	89	157

Shelby Faces Marion Next

Visiting Gridders Have Uncrossed Goal Line.

SHELBY—Shelby Whippets will be seeking to break Marion Harding's record of not having its goal line crossed in a game this year when the teams meet here at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the W. W. Skiles athletic field.

* * *

Marion has won five and tied two games including one with Mount Vernon, 0 to 0, a team that defeated the Whippets last Saturday night, 13 to 6.

* * *

Shelby showed a "fighting" spirit in the Mount Vernon game last week and almost sprung an upset. Although out playing the Yellow Jackets, the Whippets were unable to push the ball over the goal line enough times to beat Mount Vernon.

It was Shelby's third loss out of seven games and moved the Whippets into fourth place in the North Central Ohio league standing.

LEADING SCORER PACES XAVIER TO EASY WIN

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Fleet-footed Chet Mutryn, the state's leading scorer, counted two touchdowns as Xavier defeated Niagara, 20 to 0, yesterday for the Musketeers' sixth victory in seven games.

Mutryn ran 53 yards for the first score and caught a short pass for the third one to run his season total to 69.

Gridders In Final Dash

19 Unbeaten and Untied Squads Risk Standings.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK —(AP)— The country's football teams, worn out by fighting potent opposition and adverse weather conditions last week, relax a bit this Friday and Saturday before starting the final drive to the season's end.

Although almost all of the 19 teams which remain unbeaten and untied snap into action, a pair of elevens with a tie to their discredit tangle in the coming program's foremost game—Notre Dame vs. Navy at Baltimore.

The midshipmen sloshed to a 13 to 6 triumph over previously-unbeaten Pennsylvania, while the mud and hard-hitting Army eleven held Notre Dame to a scoreless draw in their 28th meeting last Saturday.

* * *

Fifteen of the country's unbeaten and untied machines slipped to the side in the grime and mud that characterized the Saturday play—throughout the east and much of the middlewest.

The six major perfect teams, divided geographically, are:

* * *

East—Fordham, Duquesne.
Midwest—Minnesota.
South—Duke.
Southwest—Texas and Texas A. & M.
Pacific Coast—None.

They are all busy this week-end with Fordham at Pittsburgh, Duquesne at St. Mary's Minnesota entertaining Nebraska, Duke taking on Davidson, Texas playing Baylor and Texas A. & M. going against Southern Methodist.

The program by sections includes:

EAST:

Fordham, 17 to 0 victor over feared Purdue, now has only Pittsburgh, St. Mary's and New York University threatening a perfect record—and a bowl bid. Harvard, which got by Princeton, 6 to 4, takes on the Army crew that held Notre Dame, and Princeton entertains Dartmouth, 3 to 0 victim of William and Mary. Yale, beaten by Brown, is at Cornell, loser to Columbia, 7 to 0, an Paul Governali's long run.

* * *

MIDWEST:

Minnesota's cripples will attempt to hand Nebraska its fourth straight setback, and Northwestern hopes to forget its 8 to 7 loss to the Gophers against Indiana. Michigan, 20 to 0 winner over Illinois, is idle. Iowa, surprise 13 to winner over Bo McMillin's aggregation, meets Illinois, and Purdue goes against Michigan State, whipped 19 to 0 by Missouri. Ohio State, victor over Pitt, plays Wisconsin.

* * *

FAR WEST

Stanford, apparently clicking again, invades Southern California, which rested last Saturday. The Rose Bowl champions defeated Santa Clara, 27 to 7, showing little resemblance to the team that lost to Oregon State early in the season.

California, also a 27 to 7 winner but with UCLA as the victim, entertains Washington, whose Huskies stopped Montana, 21 to 0. Oregon State, master of Idaho by 33 to 0, descends on UCLA.

Columbus Beats Buffalo 24-7

(By Associated Press)

Phil Bucklew's Columbus Bulls are sure of at least a tie for their third straight American professional football league championship.

* * *

The Bulls beat the Buffalo Tigers yesterday, 24-7, while the second-place New York Americans lost, 6-7, to the Milwaukee Chiefs.

* * *

The loss was the second for New York, having been beaten previously by the Bulls. Columbus still is undefeated, but tied New York.

City News Drops Steubenville Tilt

Mansfield City News pros dropped a 14 to 0 decision at Steubenville yesterday in a hard-fought game that could just as well have ended 7-0.

After Steubenville scored in the first period on a drive, Mansfield opened up with a passing attack in the third quarter and was marching down the field when a fleet Stubber back intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards for the second touchdown.

The Mansfield club is scheduled at Minerva next Sunday.

Galion Pros Win 54-0

Smear Ft. Wayne Squad In A Big Way Yesterday.

GALION—A last half rally in which 47 points were scored brought the sixth consecutive victory to the Galion Jay-Cees, semi-pro grid team, over the St. Joseph's Athletic club of Ft. Wayne, yesterday afternoon at Heise park here. The final score was 54 to 0.

* * *

Hard running, excellent passing, alert defensive play and good field generalship gave Galion a wide advantage in the last half.

* * *

Bullet Clabaugh and Chuck Smythe led the touchdown parade with two scores apiece. Clabaugh went over from the 7 in the second period. Harmon went 36 yards on a pass interception for the next score in the third period, and was followed by Clabaugh's line plunge from the 1-yard line for another score. Smythe took a 30-yard pass from Corrado for the fourth tally.

In the final period Corrado passed 8 yards to Dewalt. Delnore Goldsmith scored from the 3-yard line on a plunge and passed 30 yards to Yeager and 43 yards to Smythe for scores.

Sports Writer Sings Blues About Working Conditions

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK —(INS)— Assuming that you are a football fan and go to games whenever you can, I would like to tell you the inside story of how the great pulse-quickening dramas of the gridirons are covered, and how the result thereof in breath-taking prose finally finds its way into print.

If I wanted to get fancy about this I would say the scene opens with rain falling at 10 a. m. as a wretch to be known hereafter as a sports writer turns off the alarm clock, yawns, starts to get up, falls back into bed and with a summons of will power he didn't know he possessed finally makes into a sitting posture and into his slippers. A shave, a brisk shower and he is headed for the Yankee stadium where the Army is about to meet Notre Dame before 76,000 of you spectators.

* * *

Between the time that he gets out of bed and gets out of the house he has looked out of the window two dozen times at the rain falling in long, grey dismal streams. "It's a tough day," he says in the mirror and a sleepy-ewed wretch looks back at him as he goes ahead and shaves.

* * *

By the time he gets straightened out and headed for Yankee stadium somebody has solicitously arisen to squeeze him a glass of orange juice and arrange a cup of coffee, and he is off.

There is a three block walk in the rain to the subway because it just happens no cabs can be had at this time and the wretch already has brought himself down to the deadline on getting up there and on the job.

Arriving at the subway drenched to his knees, he takes a train which is packed with chrysanthemum-burdened ladies and gentlemen with flasks and he listens to their silly songs for a half hour, until they begin to ask "is this Yankee stadium?"

Here he has another walk of approximately a block around the stadium to the press gate—in the rain—and this is the worst ordeal of all up to now. Here is where the crowd is, pouring off subways, out of cabs and out of cars, with seemingly a thousand cops around. Your reporter is trying to hustle into the stadium and, in attempting to get past the crowd, steps out into the street and is making good progress when a cab comes tooting along and splashes him to the eyebrows and a cop with a stick hollers get back on the sidewalk.

* * *

So this is the press box, eh? He's finally made it. The same old press box for the Army-Notre Dame game. The same old teams. The gold stripes of the Army and the green of the Irish. But it is a little uncomfortable, being wet up to the haunches, with an overcoat that should weigh four or five pounds weighing 10 with the rain that has been soaked up.

* * *

Well, that's not important—this is a great game, a spectacle. Whereupon, the reporter to the left inadvertently upsets a container of coffee that trickles down the bench and into your bosom before you can get up off the seat and avoid the deluge.

You don't mind that. You were wet to the knees coming in, now you are wet from the bosom down in front. Rain and coffee.

Then the game. It is a great and thrilling struggle through the first half. The score is nothing-nothing, and another reporter reaches for a hot dog during the intermission and drags it across your ear-lobe so that mustard drips down your collar.

Then the teams are back on the field for the second half of a football game that may be everlastingly remembered. Notre Dame is a 3 to 1 favorite starting out, but up to now has been held all even.

They tug and they haul, with Bob Considine of I. N. S., on one side of you munching on a sandwich that sprays crumbs all over you and with Jack Mahon, of I. N. S., on the other sipping a container of coffee between paragraphs.

* * *

To recapitulate: You are wet to your knees with the rain you walked, through; you have had a container of coffee spilled down your bosom, and now and then you take a quick frisk of your ear to make sure there is no mustard left there. Then comes the pay-off. The game is over. The score is nothing-nothing.

This is great. You're only wet to the haunches, doused with coffee, smeared with mustard, when an enthusiastic fan finds his way into the press box to pour a highball down your neck.

I ain't complaining. I'm just telling you what we have to go through.

CLEVELAND HOCKEY CLUB TRIMS BUFFALO TWICE

(By Associated Press)

The Cleveland Barons, defending champions of the American Hockey league, captured both of their week-end meetings with the young and powerful Buffalo Bisons.

The Barons took Saturday night's game at Cleveland, 2 to 1, and then went to Buffalo where they licked the Bisons last night, 4 to 2, before 10,839 spectators.

Northwestern Coach Yelps

Claims Minnesota Score Gained on Illegal Play.

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—For the first time in his seven years as head football coach at Northwestern, Lynn Waldorf today complained about a defeat—that 8 to 7 affair which Minnesota won from the Wildcats Saturday at Minneapolis.

* * *

Waldorf's complaint was in connection with Minnesota's touchdown, which he asserted was illegal and should not have been allowed.

* * *

The Gopher touchdown came in the third period, with Northwestern ahead by 7 to 2. Minnesota had the ball on Northwestern's 41-yard stripe, and after a reverse play had been stopped for no gain, the Gophers returned to the line of scrimmage and without their customary huddle, lined up quickly. The ball was snapped before the Wildcats knew what was cooking, and Halfback Bud Higgins tore down the sidelines to pay dirt.

This play, said Waldorf, was illegal. He explained:

* * *

"Both my observers in the press box tell me that Minnesota was not lined up legally. The rules require seven men to be on the line of scrimmage, and the manner in which it was run off makes it almost impossible that the rules had been lived up to on this play.

* * *

Unfortunately, I was not in a position to observe it, and our cameraman did not start taking pictures until Higgins had begun to run. But I am quite confident it was not a legal play."

Waldorf also claimed that Northwestern's first touchdown, which was not allowed, should have been permitted to stand. Officials ruled that one Northwestern linesman was not on the scrimmage line when the play was called, nullifying the play.

2 Former Massillon Boys Meet

Wisconsin, Also Coached By Ex-Tiger, Faces Ohio.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Two Western conference coaches who were graduated from the same small-town high school send their teams against each other Saturday at Ohio stadium in the No. 1 game on the Buckeye state's 22-game week-end collegiate grid program.

The coaches are Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin and Paul E. Brown of Ohio State. Not only did both play their high school football at Massillon, where Brown also gained the coaching fame that sent him to the Buckeye helm, but they were the two smallest players ever to grace the Tiger regular lineup.

Stuhldreher, as if you didn't know, later was one of the famed "four horsemen" of Notre Dame under Knute Rockne, while Brown, after a freshman fling at Ohio State football, shifted to Miami for his college career.

Stuhldreher, following his All-America days at Notre Dame, coached at Villanova for 11 years before going to Wisconsin, where he now is director of athletics and football mentor. Brown, after graduating from Miami, spent the next 11 years as a high school coach.

Massillon high school's famed band is due to perform on the stadium turf Saturday, in a salute to its two illustrious alumni. The Stark county clan claims its two favorites are the only two major college coaches in the country coming from the same high school. About 55,000 are expected to sit in on the game.

While the Big Ten contest dominates the picture, several other topflight games are on the week-end slate. Among them is the Case-Baldwin Wallace scrap at Berea, which Case must win to retain the State and and Ohio conference leaderships and its spot as the only unbeaten and untied club inside the Buckeye borders.

Youngstown, second placer in the state with six wins and a tie, faces a tartar Friday night in Akron's Zippers — the club that handed Ohio Wesleyan its first defeat Saturday, 28 to 6, knocking the Bishops out of the pace-setting role.

Other games, all scheduled Saturday, are:

Marietta at Capital, Ohio Northern at Mount Union, Bowling Green at Wittenberg, Oberlin at Wooster, John Carroll at Kent State and Ashland at Kenton, all in the Ohio conference; Carnegie Tech at Cincinnati, Western Reserve at Miami, Ohio U. at Ohio Wesleyan, Butler at Toledo, Muskingum at Washington and Jefferson, Bethany at Denison, Heidelberg at Elmhurst, Transylvania at Otterbein, De Sales at St. Marys, Rio Grande at West Liberty Teachers, Bluffton at Defiance, Kentucky State college at Wilberforce, and Evansville at Findlay.

CHAPTER XII

She had led Polly aside, for privacy. Her secretive air was just sufficient to arouse curiosity. She tugged, half shyly, at a leather button on Polly's gorgeous new wine-colored corduroy jacket.

"Listen, Poll," her voice dropped low, "about Ken—he's scared of his shadow around girls, you know that. I happened to remember he doesn't dance. He told me so out at your house that evening of the barbecue. But I—oh Polly, he'd never ask me himself. Couldn't you kind of, uh, prime him for me?"

"P—prime him, Joy?"

"Sure! You know. Tip him off to ask me for a date. To the Freshman Masque. He could learn to dance meantime, learn enough. Oh please, Polly dear! I do want it so!"

Polly swallowed. Her huge brown eyes seemed to go even larger, and she avoided looking directly at the lovely blond girl.

But, slowly she nodded. Friendship is friendship; a sacred thing. She moistened her lips; her chin threatened to tremble. She nodded again.

Anyway, Dr. Palmer had said Joy Boone's good will should be tactfully cultivated, for the possible ultimate benefit of Frontier U. If Joy who had too many millions and was very impulsive with her money should come to love Frontier as dearly as most of the girls, then the endowment fund—it was a crass way to look at it, maybe, but at least it was unselfish, and higher education was certainly a laudable thing.

She nodded agreement to Joy a third time. Joy, who was talking quietly but in vivacious, enthusiastic way.

Two days after formal announcement of the date of the Freshman Masquerade, to which all Frontier university girls and their dates would be welcomed, nine boys had called Polly McMurray to put in their bids. These included not only ranch friends of her and her brother Ward, but young men who lived in Phoenix as well. She thanked each of the nine and courteously told them no. For once, popularity did not leave her heart singing.

When she should have been happiest, she moped about the college like some droopy, bespectacled bookworm.

"Something wrong with the old metabolism, Polly?" one girl asked. "You needn't let anything — or anybody — get you down, kid! You have too many friends."

"I know, Sue. Thanks a lot. No, I'm just—just awfully busy and all." Sue Rivers was an old and true friend from a neighboring ranch, a junior at Frontier.

"There's talk," Sue went on "We know you have been invited to the Masque, so it can't be that Some of the girls aren't so lucky, you know. We lack your gorgeous brown eyes—you are the prettiest thing, Polly dear!"

Polly squeezed her friend's hand in thanks, but talked no more here.

* * *

She had a task to do, she told herself, and she meant to do it. So she went directly to the college library. It was always a good bet that she could find a certain party back in the Old Records room. Sure enough, he was there, surrounded by files of 1880 newspapers this morning.

"Ken, she began, "you're coming out to Paradise for dinner tonight. Won't you, please?"

"Why Polly! Sure thing! Hadn't expected such an invitation. We'll study together, hunh? There's some stiff calculus that—"

She smiled sweetly at him. "We will not! You'll do all that in spare moments today, mister. I have other plans. Ward and I. Be there at six. We eat early."

Her brother Ward wasn't in on the plan, yet. But she would tell him in good time. Also, she cut back to the Administration building and found Sue Rivers again. She invited Sue to dinner also.

Sue, who was awfully nice but who would never be pretty.

She did her own studying even as she had ordered Ken to do—in spare day time. She was home by five o'clock. She had bathed and dressed simply and was chatting with Sue who had ridden over from the Rivers ranch on a horse, and together the two girls welcomed Ken when he rattled out in his funny old jalopy. Ken had on white trousers and an open green coat — gay sports outfit in tops fashion here in the balmy southwest. A chill would touch Arizona at sundown, but this part of the state never knew real cold.

Ward, too, was dressed, and delighted. That young man worked furiously at the business of ranching. He was paying off a half interest in his dad's entire holdings here, paying by raising his own herd, by serving as foreman for the Paradise enterprise, by doing two men's labor of bossing and thinking. He hadn't nearly enough time for the sociability he craved, he was only 26 years old himself.

"Hi, Ken, you old mangy son-of-a-gun you!" he greeted the young collegian. "Sure glad Sis popped up a little party. Hear we're going to practice dancing tonight. Well, fellow citizens, I need it. How's the old college work, hunh?"

His hearty man-talk delighted Ken. Ken Palmer, who was the only male student in a college of 600 girls. There was something earthly and solid about Ward McMurray.

The dinner was bountiful and good, and if Ken was surprised by Polly's plan to practice dancing afterward, he didn't complain. At least not at first. There were new phonograph records. Polly and Sue as they expressed it, had themselves a time bossing two big broad-shouldered boys. Herding them in the cutests dance steps. Laboring to instill a new sort of grace in their movements.

The two males proved to be good students. Ken could dance very well with either Polly or Sue by 9 o'clock. Most important, he was gaining confidence. Both girls were "naturals"; only the most impossible of gawks could have failed to respond to their rhythmic motions. But at 9:30 Ken wondered if Polly weren't tired. Ward had taken Sue away, saying they would drive over to the highway store and bring back some ice cream for refreshments.

"No, you are not stopping," Polly answered Ken's query. "Of course I'm not tired. And you have to dance perfectly before I let you graduate, mister! But we can have an intermission. Come sit by the fireplace."

* * *

It was just cool enough to need a fire. The huge ranch living room was dominated by this fireplace, which was a rustic, headhigh thing made of native rocks. It was so delightfully old-fashioned that it even had a wrought iron bracket which swung around to hold black kettles over the blaze. Ofttimes, the boy and girl knew, good things to eat cooked here.

"All the place needs is a spinning wheel," Ken said, smiling.

"Sit down, Ken," Polly invited again. "I have something to say to you."

She was not gay, not talking lightly. Not at all responsive to this exceedingly romantic setting. The electric lights were out, and only the ironwood logs sent shadows dancing about the room. Big Ken's ruddy face was illuminated theatrically. He looked so young! Polly had to avert her eye lest the panic that lurked inside her arise again to take command. She couldn't afford to be panicky now.

Ken sat in a straight chair with seat of laced rawhide; but she sat lower, on a stool made of cross section of sahuaro cactus wood. The top of her stool was calf skin, with it's thick hair still on. She crossed her slender ankles, staring at the fire.

OK'S HOSPITAL

State Approves It For Blood Tests Under Marriage Law.

The Mansfield General hospital laboratory had been approved today by the state department of health for examining blood tests of applicants for marriage licenses.

Provisional approval of the hospital laboratory by Dr. R. H. Markwith, state director of health, makes it the only approved laboratory in northcentral Ohio where blood samples can be analyzed. The laboratory is in charge of Dr. Burr M. Hathaway.

Marriage license applicants in the past have been forced to wait until blood samples were sent to Columbus or Cleveland for examination before the licenses could be issued.

Samples are sent to the laboratory by the examining physician who must give license applicants a clean slate before probate court will issue licenses.

THEATERS

Love and Action.

Rousing tale of love and action in a gold-mining town of the early days, "Honky Tonk," the Clark Gable-Lana Turner vehicle at the Ohio shows what happened when "Candy Johnson," a shrewd card sharp, apparently held the winning hand in shaping the destiny of a rising community. Lana Turner plays the glamorous girl from Boston, who shared his lot and Frank Morgan has the role of her protesting father, cut from the same stripe as "Candy." Chill Wills has a leading role as Gable's sidekick and the cast includes Claire Trevor, Marjorie Main and Albert Dekker.

High Powered Drama.

"Hold Back The Dawn," high-powered drama of an European scroundrel who eluded U. S. immigration barriers by marrying an American girl unaware of his true status, continues at the Madison. Charles Boyer plays the emigre with a talent for fleecing wealthy women and living in gay places. Stranded in a Mexican village until he can devise a method of escape he meets Olivia de Havilland in the role of a school teacher and plans to reach the U. S. via the matrimonial route. Paulette Goddard plays the part of Boyer's dancing partner, and the cast includes Walter Abel and Victor Francen, Red Skelton's "Whistling in The Dark," a radio mystery-thriller is the co-attraction.

Bouncing Comedy.

That bouncing Broadway comedy, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," with Mary Martin, Don Ameche, Rochester and Oscar Levant is the attraction at the Ritz. Directed by Victor Schertzinger the production deals with a southern girl with stage ambitions who permits herself to be "discovered" in her native state by a New York theatrical agent who refused to see her in his office. Mary Martin is the girl and Ameche plays the agent. The secret movement that is working to overthrow the dictators is pictured in "Underground," the second attraction, with Jeffrey Lynn and Kaaren Verne.

Whacky Romance.

The hectic love affairs of a telephone operator out to marry money but unable to say "No" to a proposal of marriage from youths poor but ambitious are depicted in Ginger Rogers' starring vehicle, "Tom, Dick and Harry," at the Park. Alan Marshall plays the scion of wealth and George Murphy and Burgess Meredith are cast as two other suitors. An entire train is stolen and spirited off the tracks in "The Great Train Robbery," the second picture, featuring Milburn Stone, Henry Hall and Bob Steele.

Historical Cavalcade.

Cavalcade of the historical beginning and growth of America from the turbulent days of Valley Forge up to the present time, "Land of Liberty," showing at the Majestic, offers scenes from some of the outstanding pictures in Hollywood. These scenes show the heroic endeavor which transformed the United States from dividend colonies into a powerful nation. Robert Taylor's "Billy the Kid," the co-attraction, shows the adventurous life of a youthful adventurer who first joins up with an unscrupulous gang and then swings over to the side of persecuted ranchers.

Association Advises Hunting and Fishing For Tired Eyes.

MINNEAPOLIS — (AP) — The Minnesota State Optometric Association advises hunting and fishing for tired eyes.

Says the bureau: "Hunting gets the average office worker and laborer who use eyes for close work out in the open where the eye has a chance to get back to the fundamental purposes for which it was made. The eye was designed for hunting and outdoor work. By getting out to hunt or fish or even to play golf, the eye receives a vacation."

MODEST PLUS FIGURES DOT STOCK LISTS

Westinghouse Among Issues Occasionally Forging Ahead on Board.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market acquired an assortment of modest plus signs today without exhibiting any real rallying tendencies.

Douglas aircraft was given a substantial lift in the wake of a record nine months' earnings statement.

Inclined to lag were General Motors, Republic Steel, Phelps Dodge, and Union Carbide.

Market analysts found a little cheer in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which stressed the ability of producers to keep output at a relatively high level despite labor interruptions and continued shortage of scrap.

Holders of agricultural equipments stocks noted the order of the O. P. M. Division of Priorities extending for one month the machinery materials rating plan. Extension of the program to Nov. 30 was made necessary, it was said, so there would be no break in manufacturing schedules while work on a broad allocation scheme for farm machinery was under way.

Speaking of Stortages . . . Did You See the New Short Coats?

The manufacturer saves on materials and you save on cost. It's a perfect combination and you ought to see the young men buying them.

"Are they as warm as a long coat?" we asked one young man.

"Gee," he said, "I don't know . . . I've never worn a long one!"

We have these fingertip coats in all accepted fabrics.

VOTE FOR THE TAX LEVY
The Mansfield Real Estate Board urges all property owners to Vote for the TAX LEVY because
1. Our fire fighting equipment is inadequate.
2. The money to be raised must be used for the purpose voted.
3. Fires cause loss in life, jobs, money and property.
4. Taxes will not be increased above present rates.
5. Probable savings in fire insurance rates.
